Football DOT-it from OSRAM creates the perfect mood right up to the finals

What's round, black and white and has enough energy for 100 hours?

The ball is round and the match lasts 90 minutes. The OSRAM DOT-it Classic Football has the shape and appearance of a real football, but when 90 minutes are up, the fun is far from over. For the OSRAM DOT-it, in its black-and-white honeycomb pattern, remains a loyal football fan long after the final whistle has blown at any European Championship party.

Whether it's used at a public outdoor broadcast, live in the stadium or at a European Championship barbecue party in the garden at home, the special European Football Championship edition of OSRAM's anywhere light can be used wherever it's needed to light up any game. Win or lose, a good football party can go on until the wee small hours. So it's good to know that the 12th player – the European Championship DOT-it – has enough stamina to see it through 100 hours of action and will be there to help find the next full bottle in the crate or the next steak in the cool box. Just a press on the surface can turn the night to day and brighten up any party when it runs into overtime. And the batteries do need changing, then a simple twist is all it takes and the European Championship DOT-it is ready to go.

The DOT-it also scores as an attractive decorative element for house parties. It can even add highlights to football flags or lend a stadium atmosphere to tabletop football with LED floodlights. Whether striker, defender or sweeper, the DOT-it is the star player in any position thanks to its adhesive surface or Velcro backing.
